DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-20 are presented for examination.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. This office acknowledges receipt of the following items from the Applicant:
Information Disclosure Statement (IDS) filed on 03/19/2004.
3. Information disclosed and list on PTO 1449 was considered.

Priority

4. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Objections

A preamble is generally not accorded any patentable weight where it merely recites the purpose of a process or the intended use of a structure, and where the body of the claim does not depend on the preamble for completeness but, instead, the process steps or structural limitations are able to stand alone. See In re Hirao, 535 F.2d 67, 190

Art Unit: 2827

USPQ 15 (CCPA 1976) and Kropa v. Robie, 187 F.2d 150, 152, 88 USPQ 478, 481 (CCPA 1951).

As explained above, the preamble is not accorded any patentable weight.

Therefore, claims 7-12 become repeated claims with claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tamaki (U.S. Patent No. 6,205,050).

Regarding claim 1, Tamaki discloses a redundancy fuse circuit (Figure 1) for replacing a defective cell (Column 1, lines 13-17) in a memory cell array with a redundancy column, comprising:

fuse circuit (Figure 3, Column 2, lines 5-30, ABSTRACT) in which an address of the defective cell or a block including the defective cell is programmed as a defective address by presence/ absence of cut-off fuse device (Column 5, lines 16-23);

a data latch circuit which latches a signal supplied from a tester to program the defective address dummy manner (Column 1, lines 53-60); and a comparator which replaces the defective cell with the redundancy cell based on an address signal supplied from the tester and an output signal the data latch circuit at a test time of the redundancy fuse circuit (Figure 2A, 12, Column 1, lines 53-67).

Regarding claim 2, Tamaki disclose wherein the memory cell array (Figure 1, 16) comprises a redundancy row including the redundancy cell (16b), and the defective address is a defective row address or an address a block including the defective row (Column 1, lines 53-60, Column 6, lines 54-60), and wherein the memory cell array comprises a redundancy column including the redundancy cell, and the defective address is a defective column address or an address of a block including the defective column (Column 1, lines 53-60, Column 6, lines 54-60), and a logic circuit which supplies the output signal comparator at the test time and which supplies the output signal of the fuse circuit to the comparator at usual operation time (Figure 9A, 30A, Column 6, lines 49-67, Column 7, lines 1-17), and wherein the fuse device is of type that cut by laser (ABSTRACT, Figure 3B), and wherein the fuse device is an electric fuse capable of being electrically cut off (Column 1, lines 39-52).

Regarding claims 13-20, the apparatus discussed above would perform the method claims 13-20.
